

ENGINEER TELLS OF QUESADA'S VOYAGE

John Olsen Testifies in Trial of Hamburg-American Line Officials

RIGGED UP WIRELESS

Says Captain Had German Code
Book and Papers About
Which He Seemed Anxious

DROPPED PAPERS OVERBOARD

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The trial of Dr. Karl Buentz and his associates in the Hamburg-American line for alleged conspiracy dragged somewhat today, with the government attempting to show that at least one more vessel sailed from American waters to aid German cruisers with supplies than the defendants are willing to admit.

Quesada's Engineer Testifies.

This vessel, the government contends was the Marina Quesada, which sailed from Newport News, Va., Dec. 16th, 1914, for Valparaiso, with coal and other supplies aboard. To support the contention, a number of witnesses followed one another in quick succession to the witness stand. Of these, one of the chief was John Olsen, ship's engineer, who professed to have frequent conversation with her captain, Hans Suhren, during the voyage. Olsen, a willing and voluble witness, frequently made the court room auditors merry with his testimony. He testified that the Marina Quesada sailed with dynamites (not declared on the manifest the government alleges) which were made part of a wireless apparatus rigged up on the steamer twenty-four hours out of port. This, he said, so they might pick up code messages from the Germans.

A wireless operator boarded the ship before she sailed and Captain Suhren also took aboard a German code book and some papers about which he seemed solicitous, the nature of which Olsen did not know.

Sight British Vessel.

They did not steer for Valparaiso, but headed for Port Limon. The wireless advice for which they waited did not come and they made this port without incident. Once, however, when a British vessel was sighted, Olsen said, Captain Suhren became excited and thinking the vessel was a man of war, rushed down to the engine room, the code book and papers in his hand and a white handkerchief over his mouth.

"Hide these quickly," Olsen quote him as saying. "A British cruiser has been sighted. If they find these things on our ship I'll be hung right away."

Olsen placed them, he said, at the bottom of a barrel, filled the barrel with lime and put it in the hold. Later when the approaching steamer was found to be only a Royal Mail Line ship, he gave them back to Captain Suhren.

The Marina Quesada under the Costa Rican flag, Olsen said, steamed out of port Limon again looking for German naval vessels. Not finding them, she made for Pernambuco, taking the precaution while on the way to paint out her name and substitute therefore her former name, the Gladstone. The Norwegian flag was raised. They made Pernambuco and the Norwegian consul called for their papers.

Drops Papers Overboard.

"Captain Suhren put the papers in a bag," Olsen said, "and dropped the bag overboard. 'Did you see the trick I did,' he asked. Then he told the Norwegian consul he had, unfortunately, lost his papers. There was some doubt about this and Suhren, who was anxious to get away, left at night during a heavy rain."

"Any lights showing," asked Roger B. Wood, of government counsel. "No, sir, we didn't even light a match."

The Marina Quesada it was brought out, failed in her errand because she neither sighted nor heard from German vessels.

STREET REPEATS DENIAL THAT HE KILLED TWO

MRS. STREET AND PATROLMAN BARMEIER ARE SHOT IN ST. LOUIS

Policeman Stops to Quiet Disturbance as Street Was Dragging His Wife out of a Wine Room—Officer Was a Brother of Mrs. C. W. Cornick of This City.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 26.—William Street, night chief of police of Madison, Ill., today repeated his denial that he had shot his wife and Charles F. Barmeier, a St. Louis patrolman, both of whom were killed late last night. Street was found two hours after the shooting with a slight wound in his leg.

Street told of threats which he said his wife had made against him. The owner of a saloon near the St. Louis home of Mrs. Street said that Street warned him yesterday not to sell any more liquor to his wife.

Street found his wife in a wine room last night. As he was dragging her out of the place Patrolman Barmeier, who was passing, jumped from a street car to stop the disturbance. Five shots were fired. When the smoke cleared away, Barmeier was found dead and Mrs. Street was found lying on the pavement fatally wounded. Street had disappeared.

Mrs. Street died a few minutes later.

When several men at the mouth of the public alley rushed to the "blind" alley they found the bodies of Barmeier and Mrs. Street within a few feet of each other. By the side of the policeman was his revolver with two shells discharged. On Street was found a revolver with one chamber empty, but this Street pointed out as a precautionary measure and used by many policemen to prevent explosion of the weapon should it fall. His revolver, according to the police, seemed not to have been fired recently.

Street last night said that while he was talking to his wife in the alley, some one called out "Now, I've got you," and fired one bullet hitting him and another his wife. Street said he ran without returning the fire.

The police are also searching for explanation of several incidental circumstances. Among these are the story told by the bar-tender of a "revolver-firing episode" in which Street figured when he found his wife drinking with another man in the wine room, the fact that Mrs. Street's breast bore signs of repeated blows and the indications of a struggle at Mrs. Street's home.

Chief Street stands six feet five inches in his stocking feet and weighs 260 pounds. He was at one time candidate for sheriff of Madison county, Illinois.

Charles F. Barmeier was a brother of Mrs. C. W. Cornick of this city and a telegram received in Jacksonville Thanksgiving night told of the shooting. Mr. and Mrs. Cornick left on the early train Friday morning for St. Louis. According to a message received last night from Mr. Cornick, his brother-in-law left his home at 10:45 to report for night duty. As he alighted from a street car and was passing an alley he heard a man abusing and quarreling with a woman. Determined to investigate, the patrolman entered the alley and a moment later was shot thru the heart. The woman too was killed. Five shots were fired and as indicated in the Associated Press story above, the double tragedy is still surrounded with mystery. Night Chief Street and his wife had been separated for some time and when he found her in St. Louis with another man the quarrel ensued. Patrolman Barmeier had an excellent record on the police force and he was killed while making an effort to do his duty. He is survived by his wife and two sons, who are prostrated by the sudden calamity which has overshadowed their home. The husband and father was shot to death just 15 minutes after he had made an affectionate farewell to his wife. One strange feature of the tragedy is that Mrs. Barmeier had a presentiment that some harm was to come to her husband and as he left the house that night she clung to him and wished that he would not go.

IMPLICATES TWO OTHERS.

Los Angeles, Nov. 26.—George E. Davis, confessed accomplice in the McNamara dynamite conspiracy testifying for the first time anywhere, told the jury in the Mathew A. Schmidt murder trial today that Frank C. Webb of New York City and Michael J. Cuneane of Philadelphia, formerly members of the executive board of the International association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, were involved in the national dynamiting plot. He said Webb steered him into Cuneane who got dynamite for his use.

FIVE DELEGATES ARE

UNSEATED.
San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 26.—Five delegates, four representing the International association of machinists and one from the International Brotherhood of Boiler-makers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers were unseated today at the ninth annual convention of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor. The action was taken on the ground that their organizations were not building trades.

SIMMONS ENDORSES SEC. M'ADOO'S PLAN

Announces Self as An Earnest Advocate of Adequate Defense

ATTACKS STATEMENT

Senator Smoot Charges That
Secretary Had Resorted to Mis-
Leading Bookkeeping Changes

SAYS BALANCE DIMINISHED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Secretary McAdoo's plan for raising by internal taxes the additional revenue needed by the government to meet a deficit and cover the initial expense of army and navy increases, was endorsed today by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, chairman of the finance committee, who had just reached Washington to prepare for consideration of revenue problems which his committee must aid in solving.

Smoot Attacks Statement.

While Senator Simmons was announcing his views, Senator Smoot of Utah, one of the leading Republican members of the finance committee, gave out a statement attacking Secretary McAdoo's general financial statement issued yesterday. The Utah senator's statement said that all the secretary's revenues were too low and that those for expenditures too high and that misleading book-keeping changes had been reported to.

Differing from Representative

Kitchen, majority leader of the house, Senator Simmons announced himself as an earnest advocate of adequate defense and merchant marine legislation and expressed the conviction that the present income tax exemption was far too high and that gasoline and automobiles should share the burden of the war tax.

Approves General Ideal.

"Altho I have not had an opportunity to investigate closely the details of the administration's defense program," said Mr. Simmons, "I approve the general idea which I understand underlies it."

In his statement Secretary McAdoo's figures, Senator Smoot asserted, did not correspond with the daily statement of the United States treasury issued on the date when the secretary's tabulations were begun. Mr. McAdoo's table showed that on July 1st, 1915, there was a credit balance in the general fund of $104,170,105.78 whereas, the senator declared the official daily statement of the treasury for that date showed the net balance in the general fund to be $76,157,831.33. On Sept. 30, 1915, the treasury statement, according to Senator Smoot, showed a net balance in the general fund of $40,898,894.97, while, he added, "the next day's statement without the addition of the proceeds of a bond sale and with an actual decrease in the revenues of the government over expenditures shows the balance of $128,063,545.23."

Increase in Bookkeeping.

"This apparent increase of $87,164,650.26 in the treasury balance," said Senator Smoot, "was in book-keeping alone and was procured by the transfer from the liabilities to the assets side of the ledger of the disbursing officers' balances and the government bank note redemption fund, both of which have always been recognized as liabilities by the government and by the inclusion of subsidiary silver coin, minor coins and silver bullion, none of which had ever been reckoned as available for the payment of government expenses."

Senator Smoot said that when the present administration took over the treasury in March, 1913, there was a net general balance of $149,335,711.78. On Sept. 1915, he continued, that balance had been diminished by $108,436,816.81.

VILLA SNIPERS FIRE ON AMERICANS

U. S. Troops Return the Fire and More Than 40
Mexicans Are Killed

ONE AMERICAN IS KILLED

In Second Brush With Carranza
Cavalry, Mistaken for Villa
Troops, One Soldier Is Killed

TWO SOLDIERS ARE WOUNDED

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 26.—Carrying out threats that they would fight Americans before they left the border Villa snipers posted in Nogales, Sonora, after Francisco Villa evacuated the town, opened fire on soldiers of the twelfth U. S. infantry, posted at the border. The Americans who had endured stinging taunts for a week, returned the fire. More than forty Mexicans were killed in this fray.

One Soldier Is Killed.

Later in a second brush with Carranza cavalry, mistaken for Villa troops, one American soldier was killed and two others were wounded. Stephen Little was the soldier killed. Another American soldier, Herbert Cates, was seriously wounded. Arthur L. Sauge was shot in the foot. In this affair three Carranza soldiers were shot, one of them, a courier, sent to apprise Colonel W. H. Sage, the American officer on the line, that the Carranza forces had captured the Mexican town just across the border, was shot in the wrist, as his horse, riddled with bullets, fell under him.

All three of the wounded Americans belonged to Co. L, of the twelfth infantry, who engaged the Carranza cavalry after fellow members of the twelfth infantry had driven the Villa snipers, estimated at about 200 men, from the Mexican town where an orgy of looting, attended the capture of large liquor consignments.

Oregon Holds Nogales.

Firing across the border continued intermittently between one o'clock in the morning and one o'clock this afternoon. Tonight Nogales, Sonora, was held by 6,000 Carranza troops under General Alvaro Obregon, who was reported to have defeated the main body of troops with which Villa attempted to escape from Nogales at a point where Villa's troop trains were stalled, some twelve miles south. Nothing has been heard of the fate of Villa or his men.

On the American side, the great regret was left over the casualty sustained by the United States troops, the fact that American soldiers had fought back when attacked and the feeling of apprehension which had existed ever since Villa, raging Prieta, took possession of Nogales, Sonora.

Col. Sage Gives Order to Fire.

Colonel Sage, whose order to "pick your man and fire," opened the engagement, was in command at the time, being superseded later by Colonel W. C. Brown of the tenth cavalry, his senior, who arrived only a short time before the fighting. He was on the line when an intoxicated Villa soldier fighting with a woman wrestled his rifle from her and fired at a party of American soldiers on duty in a street which divides the American and Mexican towns. This seemed to be signal for the snipers.

The American officer promptly gave the order to fire but instructed the infantrymen not to harm any Mexican not engaged in sniping.

Attack Was Anticipated.

Today's attack by the Villa snipers was anticipated. All last night the Villa troops as they prepared to evacuate, taunted the American soldiers on the border calling them cowards and daring them to fight. Even after General Acosta, a Villa subordinate, and Carlos Randall, Villa governor of Sonora, crossed the line and were given asylum by the United States military authorities the soldiers of their outlaw chief threatened to force a fight.

Two hundred of them, ordered to get off an overloaded troop-train early today, made their way back to Nogales, Sonora, where they began looting and consuming the liquor stocks of the numerous saloons. They became intoxicated and the residents of the Mexican town began coming over the boundary line. The American military authorities promptly placed the town under martial law and drove crowds away from the danger zone. Soon after ward bullets began to fly across the border.

TORNADO DEATH LIST STILL STANDS AT TEN

ALL OF THE INJURED, EXCEPTING ONE CHILD, ARE RECOVERING

Property Damage From Arkansas
Storm Is Estimated at $300,000
From Practically Complete Reports—Hot Springs Cares for Thirty Injured.

BULLETIN.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 26.—Reports received tonight showed that ten persons were killed and about twenty-five were injured outside the Hot Springs district in Thursday's storm. This with the ten dead and thirty-six injured near Hot Springs brought the total for the state to twenty dead and more than sixty injured.

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 26.—With the exception of one child all of the injured in Thanksgiving Day tornado were reported tonight to be recovering and the death list still stood at ten. Property damage was estimated at $300,000 from practically complete reports received from the outlying district swept by the storm. The tornado did not touch Hot Springs but this city felt its effects keenly in caring for the victims of the disaster and relieving the needs of these left destitute when their homes were destroyed. Municipal authorities said tonight that immediate wants have been supplied.

William Russell, 9 years old who is only one of thirty or more injured being cared for here, was playing near his home when the storm picked him up and carried him some distance. It was a freak of the storm that the child was rendered unconscious and received dangerous internal injuries altho not a bone in his body was broken and there were no bruises to indicate that he had been hurt. He may die.

Except in removed negro section there was little additional scope of the storm discovered. No fatalities occurred there, altho nearly every house was demolished.

Funerals of the ten persons killed were being arranged tonight.

CAVALRY OFFICERS OF NATIONAL GUARD ENCAMP AT FORT SHERIDAN

Detachment Will Make Fort Sheridan its Headquarters for the Remaining Days of the Ride.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—The forty-five cavalry officers of the National Guard engaged in a tactical ride, encamped at Fort Sheridan tonight after a ride from Des Plaines. A., acting as umpire, made a distance of more than thirty miles in five hours and thirty-five minutes. The test requires that thirty miles shall be made in six hours.

The detachment will make Fort Sheridan its headquarters for the remaining days of the ride. Tomorrow they will make a circuitous trip from and to the fort and the final day of the test will be from the fort to the first cavalry army in Chicago. Army officers believe the plan of tactical tests for national guard will be made compulsory. The present test was made at the suggestion of Colonel Forman and was the first day of the experiment, yesterday's ride from Chicago to Des Plaines being a preliminary ride.

BULGARS ATTACK FRENCH POSITIONS

Important Military Developments Are Expected
on the Varda River

RUSS MASSING BIG ARMY

TEUTONS ATTACK IN GALICIA

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The Serbian main army having been driven back to the borders of Albania and Montenegro where they are being attacked by the Austro-Germans, the Bulgarians, with the assistance of General Von Gallwitz' forces, are giving their attention to the Anglo-French troops. Important military developments may therefore be looked for on the Varda river. The Bulgars appear to have abandoned their advance on Monastir, in order to attack the French positions on the Cerna, where fighting already has been reported. So far the French have held their positions but despatches from Saloniki hint that may be necessary to withdraw from Krivolak to the southwest, where British-French reinforcements are being concentrated.

Massing Big Russ Army.

While the result of these movements are being watched with some anxiety, better news from the allies' point of view comes from the northern frontier of Bulgaria, where a big Russian army is massing.

It is reported that General Alexei Kuropatkin is to command this Russian army of invasion, which either will be sent up the Danube or allowed passage thru Roumania to attack Varna from the landside. Other Russian forces are being organized at Odessa and Sebastopol and doubtless will be sent either to the Bulgarian or Turkish coast. It is reported from Switzerland that the Austro-Germans are sending reinforcements into the Balkans to meet this new Russian offensive, but other sources state that these reinforcements are enroute to the western front because of the fact that the Balkan campaign is having a direct effect on all fronts.

In Galicia the Austro-Germans are attacking in the hope of compelling the Russians to divert a part of the Bessarabian army thence.

While the Austrians opposing the Italian offensive on the Isonzo are unable to get assistance they are counter-attacking with terrific fury and thus far have prevented the Italians from capturing Gorizia, which has been hard pressed for nearly a week.

Late reports from Mesopotamia show that the British hold the battle-field of Ctesiphon and that the Turks are retreating to Diablah, within ten miles of Bagdad. Troops engaged in this region are under-going hardships and unknown in other campaigns there being a shortage of both food and water. The Turks are showing more activity in the Gallipoli peninsula where with new supplies of ammunition they made an attack on the allies' positions without, however, making any gains.

DETECTIVE SERGEANT PAZAK TESTIFIES IN HALPIN TRIAL

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Detective Sergeant Joseph Pazak testified today in the trial of John J. Halpin, former chief of the detectives charged with accepting bribes for the protection of swindlers, that warrants for the arrest of Frank and James Ryan of the "clairvoyant trust" had never been served.

The witness said he had been ordered by Halpin's assistant to place the warrants in the hands of Detective Sergeants Walter O'Brien and Carmody.

Illness in the family of one of the jurors caused the adjournment of court until Monday and permission being given the juror to visit his home under guard of a bailiff.

Republican success in a national election has never depended on carrying either Maryland, Kentucky or New Jersey. But no Democrat ever got to the White House who did not carry all of these States and New York into the bargain. Maryland and Kentucky may or may not be Democratic next year; the chances are that they will not. But New Jersey and New York are sure to be Republican. And the candidate who carries these States is always elected.

Altho food prices in Germany because of the war and the embargo have not been raised to high figures, that the government exercises wise control over the price of necessities is evidenced by a dispatch from Berlin. Meat prices notwithstanding the scarcity of cattle and hogs, have declined about 8c a pound since Nov. 6, as a result of laws passed providing what the price limit shall be. Speculation in food products is always a questionable practice and in war times is indefensible.

In line with previous reform measures adopted by the war countries in an effort to reduce the consumption of liquor, England has passed a no trading law. The measure has already shown a good effect according to the police records. Now the proposition is to limit the hours of drinking in London to 5-12 hours on week days and 5 hours on Sundays. One good thing about the movement is that the effect will be very apt to be lasting and when the war is over, the Londoners will have formed habits which will prove to them that they are better off in health and wealth with the lesser amount of liquor consumption.

New Order Will Aid Seal Sales.
An order just issued by Postmaster General Barleson will make it possible to attach Red Cross stamps to mail packages. The postmaster has temporarily suspended the postal regulation making packages unmailable when they bear stickers or stamps other than government postage on the address side. The order was made for the purpose of helping the sale of Red Cross stamps and at the same time the department is urging people not to affix such stamps on the address side of packages, altho, as stated, this will not cause the packages to be undelivered. The sale of Red Cross seals with passing years has grown tremendously and as a result the laudable work of fighting tuberculosis has been greatly aided. The indications are that the sale record this year will surpass even the high figures of 1914.

Retail Prices Affected.
The dispatches almost daily tell of some great war order placed in this country and the people are wont to think about the great profits which must accrue to the manufacturers and distributors, but pay little attention to the effect on retail markets. An exchange comments on the vast amount of copper and brass which has been shipped from the United States to countries engaged in war and shows that as a result there have been such increases in the cost of metal fixtures that retail dealers as soon as present stocks are exhausted will of necessity charge their customers much higher figures. The same thing applies to a great many lines. A local retail druggist said recently, that if he had purchased $1,000 worth of quinine in the early days of the war that he would have made $5,000 profit. Even in larger degree this is true of other drugs. It is almost impossible to obtain dye stuffs and other articles might be mentioned which are now off of everybody's buying list because of the impossibility of having orders filled. One result has been to develop some new lines of industry in this country and various establishments have grown up for the production of articles and materials which in the past have come from abroad.

One of the citizens of Jacksonville who for many years has been forward in the charitable and business life of this city, and who has for some time been president of the board of trustees of Passavant Hospital is John R. Loar, now confined in his bed at his home, seriously ill. Mr. Loar will be greatly missed by his associates in the present campaign for funds to increase the efficiency of that much needed institution, and his absence makes their work more difficult, altho his friends and the friends of the hospital may be incited to greater efforts and to greater liberality by the thought that by giving at this time they will be aiding a cause that they know was and is so dear to his heart. The hospitals of this city have been a blessing in the past and a contribution to the institution at this time will enable the Passavant hospital to increase its capacity for still greater good, and enable them to care for a greater number of suffering and unfortunate people.

An Export Duty?

"What's the Constitution among friends?" This was Congressman Tim Campbell's demand of President Grover Cleveland; and it evidently remains as sound Democratic doctrine to this day. For now we have the proposition advanced seriously in high Democratic quarters that the straitened treasury shall be relieved by a special war revenue tax directed against the manufactured war munitions which the country is producing in such large quantities.

In effect this is an export duty, such as the Constitution forbids. Yet among the arguments advanced in support of it is that the tax would be levied on goods which are exported to collect because shipments of munitions would be cleared at customs ports and would be recorded, in addition, in ships' papers.

The devices which the Administration contemplates using to hide the disasters which its policies have brought to the treasury are numerous and ingenious; and the legislation already enacted to secure relief is scarcely less so. But thus far the Constitution has not been violated to make political capital for a bankrupt political party. We doubt if it ever will be.

Preparedness—Or Politics?

Democratic comment on Mr. Bryan's pacifist ideas, comment, that is, which originates in white house circles, does entirely with the incident in its political aspect. Dismissing the effect of the Bryan propaganda on the nation, this comment centers upon the effect within the Democratic party. All this confirms the suspicion that the President's conversion to the cause of national military preparedness is unreal, that he stands, in truth, exactly where he did a year ago, and that his purpose is political rather than patriotic.

These will be deemed harsh conclusions by Wilson idolators; but we think they are warranted by the facts. The preparedness which the President has advocated—in general terms only—is not military preparedness; it is political preparedness. It is the kind of preparedness which politicians have counselled him to advocate; it is not the kind of preparedness which the military and naval experts of the country have formulated. It is the kind of preparedness which appeals to Josephus Daniels, to Congressman Hay and to Henry Ford. It is not the kind of preparedness which appeals to the Army War College or to the General Board of the Navy. The preparedness which

BOOK BORROWERS

Some folks are rather funny; if they should borrow money, they're sure to pay it back; they're straight, they're never willing to owe a man a shilling, a shot-gun or a tack. In all life's common phases they are prompt as blazes, a debt gets on their nerves; they are so blamed punctilious it fairly makes one bilious to contemplate their curves. But when they borrow novels, and take them to their hovels, to keep nine days or ten, you may be sure the chances are that those fine romances will ne'er come back again. I am a chronic martyr; my set of old Nick Carter was borrowed long ago; and Laura Libbey's volumes, that stood in stately columns, my shelves no more shall know. Where are the cherished treasures that gave me un-mixed pleasures in olden, golden days? Oh, where is "Bols and Fellers," and where "The Life and Letters of Rutherford B. Hayes"? To honest friends I lent them—at their request I sent them—and maybe they'll come back some day when pigs are soaring, and pterodactyls, roaring, are roosting on my shacks.

take them to their hovels, to keep nine days or ten, you may be sure the chances are that those fine romances will ne'er come back again. I am a chronic martyr; my set of old Nick Carter was borrowed long ago; and Laura Libbey's volumes, that stood in stately columns, my shelves no more shall know. these experts advocate has been thrust into the background. There is a real remedy for a very real ailment. The other is a patent medicine, which is being well advertised. Dr. Wilson and Dr. Hay will try to administer the patent medicine. But Congress, before taking it, will insist upon knowing the ingredients. Congress will want to be told how much is politics and how much is preparedness. It may be that Mr. Wilson has really "hit the sawdust trail" as regards the national defense. But Congress and the country will have to be shown.

Women Physicians and the War.

The present war, in draining the belligerent countries of their male population, has naturally thrown unwanted responsibilities on women. In various callings, positions from which women had previously been rigorously excluded, or to which they had been admitted only under protest, are now being thrown open, and women are eagerly invited to enter. In the medical profession especially the demands of the military service have produced a deficiency in the supply of civilian practitioners which can be remedied only by utilizing the services of women physicians.

The London correspondent of The Journal of the American Medical association reports that the medical journals in Great Britain are full of advertisements offering places to women and that the situation has become so acute that a large hospital sent an application to the secretary of the London School of Medicine for Women, "Send us any women at any salary." A daily newspaper also states, on the authority of the London School of Medicine for Women that an infirmary post in the White-chapel district, previously held only by a man at a salary of $500 a year and emoluments, is now advertised as open to a woman at $1,000 a year and emoluments. This extreme demand for women, of course, cannot continue indefinitely after the close of the war. Still, for many years after the cessation of hostilities, it will probably be literally impossible to fill all medical posts with men as exclusively as heretofore. Not only will the medical staffs of the armies in the field return from the front with ranks thinned by the hazards and hardships of war, but also the younger generation of men physicians will be greatly depleted for a time by the fact that the young men who should now be acquiring a medical education are serving under the flag. This prospect of a continuance of the demand for women physicians, at least for some years, has caused a marked increase in the numbers of women medical students. The registration in the London School of Medicine for Women has doubled. Other British medical schools and hospitals are said to be considering the admission of women, and one (Charing Cross hospital) it is reported, has already opened its doors to women students.

In Germany, according to press reports, in spite of the absence of the customary numbers of American, Russian, English and Swiss women students, the enrolment of women medical students has risen from 874 to 1,150, and the entry of German women in the medical course has been greatly facilitated by a recent measure recognizing the diplomas of girls' schools as adequate entrance credentials throughout the empire.

While at the close of the war men will tend to displace women physicians again to a greater or less extent, it may be taken for granted that the old order will never be re-established in its entirety. If there are fields of medical work for which women are entirely unfitted, the fact will have been demonstrated and they will be replaced as speedily as possible; but if there are posts which a competent woman may fill as well as a competent man (it is said, by the way, that even in the organization and administration of Red Cross units women have done excellent service), it will be impossible for conservatism any longer to deny all opportunity to women. If there is any department of medicine to which women are especially adapted, that fact also will probably have been demonstrated on a larger scale than has hitherto been possible. After the war, in short, there will be a readjustment accompanied by more or less friction; but European women physicians may undoubtedly look forward in the end to a fair field, from which old prejudices have been to a considerable degree eliminated by the pressure of necessity. It will be interesting to see what use they make of their enlarged opportunities.

THANKSGIVING DAY AT STATE HOSPITAL

Good Things in Large Quantities Required for Annual Feast for Patients and Employees.

According to an annual custom, which for many years has prevailed at Jacksonville state hospital, a bounteous Thanksgiving dinner was served at noon Thursday to the 2100 patients under treatment at the institution and the 355 employees. Two thousand pounds of turkey was the leading item in the food supply and other foods were provided in proportion. The menu included oysters, celery, sour pickles, roast turkey with dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, bread and butter, mince pie, apples, tea, milk and coffee. To give some idea of the immense amount of food required it need only be considered that twenty gallons of oysters were necessary for the meal, with four barrels of cranberries, 327 bunches of celery, 600 mince pies, 171 pounds of butter and 2,343 loaves of bread.

LIGHT QUESTION STILL PENDING AT FRANKLIN

Mr. Olinger asks us to assure the people of Franklin that electric service will be resumed just as soon as suitable arrangements can be made. Representatives of utility companies have offered to buy his equipment and franchise, or build a transmission line to Franklin and sell him current, in which event we would have the much to be desired 24 hour service. He has not yet made up his mind whether to trade with them or replace the equipment destroyed in the fire. The matter will be decided in a few days.

It is hoped to have the light plant in working order again in not over two months. In the meanwhile those of our citizens who have been depending on electricity have rubbed up their old coal oil lamps and have them once more trimmed and burning.—Franklin Times.

FUNERALS

Erickson.

The funeral of Gilbert Erickson was held from the undertaking parlors of Williamson and Cody Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, in charge of Rev. Walter E. Spooner. Music was furnished by Henry Pinkerton, Frank Bracewell, A. C. Cody and Rev. W. E. Spooner.

Burial was made in Jacksonville cemetery and the bearers were L. Goheen, W. C. Howe, C. H. Balsley, J. K. Long, A. J. Boston and J. W. Bowen.

McElfresh.

The funeral of Mrs. D. R. S. McElfresh was held in this city Friday afternoon. The remains arrived in Jacksonville from Urbana on the Wabash train at 2 o'clock and were conveyed from the station to Diamond Grove cemetery. There Dr. Joseph R. Harker spoke briefly, referring to the faithful life of the deceased and to the great respect that he had always entertained for those of the McElfresh name. Dr. Harker said that he had frequently visited in the home of Rev. and Mrs. G. R. S. McElfresh and Dr. and Mrs. William McKendree McElfresh, and nowhere had he come into contact with stronger influence for right living. Several passages of scripture were read and then the casket was consigned to the last resting place.

Friends had sent many beautiful flowers and these in accordance with a request made by the deceased were sent to the pupils at the State School for the Deaf instead of being taken to the cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Crain of Urbana, a daughter of Mrs. McElfresh, her son, Dr. W. E. McElfresh of Middleboro, Mass., and her grandson were here to attend the services. The bearers were Rev. G. W. Flagg, pastor of Centenary church; Rev. F. B. Madison, pastor of Grace church; Rev. W. W. Theobald, pastor of Brooklyn church; George Blair, Thomas Rapp and J. W. Taylor, members of Centenary church, where Mrs. McElfresh held her membership for a long period of years. A number of longtime friends of the family met at the funeral party at the Wabash station. Mrs. Crain and her son returned to Urbana on the Chicago & Alton at 5 o'clock and Dr. McElfresh started on his return journey to the east.

Wednesday night Walter Oddie, residing south of the city, left the home of a friend in Jacksonville about half past ten and proceeded on a motorcycle homeward, but instead of getting there he found himself about midnight in a conveyance on the way to Dr. Day's hospital.

He is confused regarding the cause but he either collided or ran against a vehicle, was waylaid or ran against an obstacle. At any rate he lay unconscious for a long time till finally he came to as stated.

At first it was feared who would lose his left eye. He fell on the left side and badly mangled and bruised his face and head. Last evening he was resting quietly and it looked as if he would retain the vision of both eyes and recover without permanent evil consequences.

ARMY AND NAVY HOLD ANNUAL CONTEST TODAY

INDICATIONS POINT TO A HARD FOUGHT GAME.

Possibility of Unpleasant Weather Fails to Check the Enthusiasm of Thousands—President Wilson Will Reach New York in Time for Luncheon Before Going to the Game.

New York, Nov. 26.—The football eleven of the United States Naval and Military academies will close their eastern griddiron season with their annual contest here tomorrow afternoon. Indications point to a hard fought game under poor weather conditions and before the largest assembly of spectators to witness this football classic since the initial struggle in 1890.

The possibility of unpleasant weather has failed to check the enthusiasm of thousands of army and navy officers, government officials, midshipmen and cadets who are gathering here for the contest. A majority of the leading hotels are filled tonight with the representatives of the two branches of the service but the main contingent of out of town spectators will follow the example of President Wilson and arrive here tomorrow in time for luncheon before going to the game. The nation's chief executive who will be accompanied by a large party of personal friends, will occupy a special box on the navy side of the field for one half of the game, crossing the griddiron to Army section between halves for the final two periods of the contest.

The president will thus lend his presence and support to both academies during the sixty minutes of play, without indicating any preference or favorite in the football battle of the rival branches of the service.

Both the West Point and Annapolis squads visited the Polo grounds today for secret practice and signal drills. During the early hours of the evening the players remained in seclusion in their private suites, retiring at nine o'clock. All the men selected to open the match for the army and navy are reported to be in fine physical condition.

The probable line-up and the officials of game follows:

Army	pos	Navy
Neyland	le	VonHelmberg
Jones	lt	Ward
O'Hara	lg	Kercher
McEwan	lg	Goodstein
Meacham	rg	Smith
Weyand	rt	Gilman
Redfield	re	Johnson
Gerhardt	q	Craig
Ford	h	Westphal
Oliphant	h	Davis
Coffin	fb	Martin

Officials: Referee, W. S. Langford; Trinity; Umpire, P. W. Brown; Brown; Field Judge, J. A. Evans; Williams; Head linesman: Carl Marshall, Harvard.

LINES IN ALL SECTIONS REFLECT SUSTAINED GROWTH IN BUSINESS

Manufacturing Operations Still Broaden With Overtime in Force in Many Instances.

New York, Nov. 26.—Dun's Weekly Review tomorrow will say:

"Widely divergent lines in all sections reflect a sustained growth in business movements and volumes. Manufacturing operations still broaden with overtime in force in many instances while retail distribution steadily enlarges under the stimulus of increased payrolls and continued low temperatures. As the season advances holiday goods become a more conspicuous feature and there is every indication that results in this particular branch will prove exceptionally gratifying.

"With money circulating more freely, collections show further improvement and the commercial mortality diminishes, fewer failures occurring this month than in October. Other statistical records exhibit noteworthy gains.

"The speculative activity has abated, the expansion in mercantile and industrial transactions keep bank clearings at unusually high totals.

"Enhancement of the earning power of the railroads continues, yet the heavy traffic movements cause an embarrassing accumulation of freight on the Atlantic Seaboard. Exports were again of unmatched proportions in October and the present development of overseas commerce is aided by the greater stability of sterling exchange, due to the additional foreign credits in this market. Weekly bank clearing $3,192,278,075."

JACKSONVILLE HIGH TROUNCES PAWNEE HIGH BY SCORE OF 7 TO 0

Only Score Made Was in the First Half by Locals—Rain Mars Contest and Small Crowd Present.

Jacksonville high school football team finished the season on Thanksgiving day by trouncing Pawnee high, 7 to 0. Rain marred the sport for the players as well as the spectators, and it was only a small crowd that watched the contest till the end. The victory left a good impression on the local eleven, who have been playing hard the entire year, without the score board showing any great figures on Jacksonville's side. Pawnee presented a good lineup and both sides fought gallantly for the honors. Pawnee and Springfield met in their first game of the season and the score was 14 to 6 in favor of Springfield. Later Springfield high defeated Jacksonville 59 to 0, now Pawnee and J. H. S. clash with a victory of 7 to 0 for Jacksonville. Thus are the scores compared. Jacksonville's score came in the first quarter after the ball had been carried down the field, with Pawnee stubbornly resisting. Homer Reynolds got away for a long run. After a couple of linebacks Firkie was sent over for the touchdown. The last two quarters of the game were shortened to twelve minutes on account of the rain.

The following was the line-up: Pawnee. Position, Jacksonville. Finklerberk, l.e. Reeve; Miller, l.t. King; Everman, l.g. Arter; Wright, c. Sorrells; White, r.g. Cullve; Collon, r.t. Robinson; Barbey, r.t. Firkie; Hall, q.b. Priest; Jordan, l.h.b. How; Reynolds, r.h.b. Hom; Reynolds, Minder, fb. Herring. Officials: John Larson, referee; Clarence Fuller, umpire; Bryce Whisler, head linesman; Rayhill, timekeeper.

DEATH OF COL. W. J. DIVINE

The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin of Nov. 23, had the following: "Colonel William J. Divine, who was one of the organizers of the National guard in Pennsylvania and for twenty-five years secretary of Oriental lodge, A. F. and A. M. died today at his home, 1714 North 35th street, from a complication of nervous diseases. He was sixty-four years old and is survived by a widow, Mrs. Laura G. Divine, a son, John Field Divine, and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Briggs. The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Woodlands cemetery.

Colonel Divine entered Girard college in 1861 and was one of the drilling company which later was organized into Company C, Philadelphia city guards, N. G. P. He later became lieutenant-colonel of the Twentieth regiment, N. G. P., which was made up chiefly of Girard college alumni.

Colonel Divine was one of the committee which superintended the erection of Masonic temple and for a number of years was chief usher in the temple.

This has a local interest because Col. Divine's father, Richard Divine, was a first cousin of Mrs. Julia Moore, Mrs. John Hockenull, and Mrs. Robert Hockenull. He was the same relation to Mrs. James H. Taylor of Philadelphia, mother of Mrs. John W. Young and Mrs. Robert Russell of Jacksonville.

TRAVELED THRU THE SOUTHWEST COUNTRY IN AN AUTOMOBILE

Dr. E. L. Crouch Writes to Jacksonville Friends of Interesting Experiences on His Trip from Boulder to Los Angeles—Some Primitive Hotels.

George Ball recently received the following interesting letter from his friend, Dr. E. L. Crouch in which the writer tells of his automobile trip, with Mrs. Crouch and their son Joel from Boulder, Colorado to Los Angeles. The journey took them thru territory they would never have seen otherwise and they enjoyed their experiences thoroughly. The distance covered was 1575 miles. The Journal is permitted to publish a portion of the letter as follows:

Los Angeles, Cal. Nov. 16, 1915. We have thought of you often since leaving Jacksonville. After leaving your house we remained in Mt. Vernon until the following Monday evening, leaving for Boulder, Col., where we arrived Tuesday evening. Remained in Boulder until Saturday morning, when we resumed our journey westward in an automobile baby six Buick with a young man who had been driving thru the mountains for the past two years and was a good mechanic. Saturday we passed thru Denver, Colorado Springs, The Garden of the Gods, Manitou, arriving at Pueblo a distance of 170 miles, stopped at Hotel Main for the night, slept well and on Sunday morning about seven o'clock resumed our journey, ate dinner at Trinidad, climbed Raton hill and stopped for the night at Springer, leaving Pueblo a distance of 163 miles behind. Springer is a small N. M. town. We spent the night in a real wild west movie picture hotel, two beds in one room, oil lamp, toilet next block, bath room out of order, bar off lobby, etc. Monday we started on our journey at 6:30 thru a broad uninhabited prairie, arrived at Las Vegas at 10:30 replenished our supplies and went on to Santa Fe for the night with a credit of 146.2 miles for the day.

"Santa Fe is a typical Mexican town. The streets were so very narrow that wagons could hardly pass, the houses lining the streets on either side were one story adobe Mexican houses and inhabited by Mexicans. North of the Plaza, the buildings and streets were better. A majority of the inhabitants are Mexicans. Left Santa Fe at 7 a. m. Tuesday. The road continued across a vast prairie with very little vegetation except cactus and sage brush, sparsely settled except occasionally a typical Mexican village of adobe houses and very narrow streets. Arrived at Albuquerque at 11:10 a. m. Replenished our larder and hit the trail again, in 56 miles saw two habitable houses. Arrived at Magdalena at 7 p. m., traveled 173.4 miles for the day. Magdalena is a stock market. The town was filled with buyers. The only room we could get in the town was at the Wilson house, where we occupied the proprietor's room, the boys sleeping on cots in a room with two men.

"The next day Wednesday we met several herds of cattle, sheep and goats being driven into the market. Left Magdalena at 10 a. m., crossed the Continental divide at 1:45 p. m., elevation 8200 feet. Crossed New Mexico and Arizona line at 5:48 p. m. Arrived at Springerville, Arizona at 7 p. m., where we stopped for the night at the Reagan house, the only hotel in the town. Another movie picture hotel of the old English inn style where the proprietor did the chamber work, served the meals and officiated as ye host. This town is 103 miles from a railroad, elevation about 8,000 feet. Eggs were ordered for breakfast, the proprietor replied "We don't know what eggs are, haven't seen any for two months." We noticed Harry Thaw's name on the hotel register. The room we occupied had two double and one three quarter beds in it. We could have our choice but the price of the beds were different. Ours was the 1191 car registered at Mr. Becker's store since Jan. 1, 1915. Mr. Becker was one of the committee of the Santa Fe National Highway and lived in Springerville. Gasoline was 32 cents per gallon and everything else in proportion on account of the distance from the railroad. They figured that each automobile left an average of $8.00 per car in the town which was their principal source of revenue.

"Left Springerville at 6:30 a. m. Thursday, passed thru the petrified forest about noon, crossed a toll bridge operated by a Mexican costing 50 cents, since replaced by a steel structure. Arrived at Flagstaff after traveling 203 miles. This was the hardest day out, we were all tired, but after a good night's sleep resumed our journey at 8:50 a. m. Friday, traveled 176 miles, arrived at Kingman, where we stopped for the night. Got the last room in the hotel, the boys slept on cots in the sample room. This town was alive on account of excitement over a big gold strike at Oatman, 25 miles to the west. Left the Santa Fe trail when we left Kingman Saturday morning in order to visit the mining towns of Gold Roads and Oatman. Took the wrong road which took us up into what was called the secret pass up into the mountains as far as any other auto had gone to an abandoned gold mine. This took us out of our way about several miles. Along this trail we saw hundreds of mountain quail, an antelope and a number of wild burro. I wished a number of times for your shot gun.

We arrived at Goldroads a gold mining town in the heart of the mountains, where they were mining milling and refining about $200,000 worth of gold every ten days and sending it to the U. S. mint at San Francisco in the shape of gold pigs. Two miles further on and around a mountain peak was Oatman, the new mining town, where is located the Tom Reed mine, besides others which are being opened up where they claim there is $12,000,000 worth of gold bearing ore blocked and ready to be taken out.

"All was excitement here, could hardly get thru the streets of the new town for groups of excited men discussing the new strikes. There were old miners and many who looked like they could be put in the tenderfoot class. About an hour before we arrived an old miner arrived from Nome, Alaska on the scene. From Oatman we wended our way down the mountain side bearing toward the setting sun, crossed the Colorado river on a ferry for which we paid $5.00, found ourselves in Needles, Cal., a Santa Fe railroad town, the largest division of this railroad. We had traveled 88 miles but had advanced less than 60 miles. Sunday morning we left Needles, crossed the desert which was deep sand and not so bad going as long as the wheels were kept in the rut, but when out of the rut going was very bad or not at all. Some ruts were very deep. While trying to avoid a deep rut the car skidded and I killed the engine. When I tried to start the wheels spun in the sand and sunk to the axles. Was pulled out by a man who with his wife and daughter were traveling from New York in a Buick car. We traveled together on the desert. He was just behind us when our car stuck. We were in the middle of the desert at noon, not uncomfortably hot. Arrived at Barstow, a distance of 165 miles, about 6:30 p. m., where we remained for the night. Monday morning we resumed the trail, arrived at San Bernardino about noon. The remainder of the way was over an asphalt pavement, about 65 miles, bordered on either side with orange groves; arrived in Los Angeles about 5:30 Monday evening on the tenth day.

"The speedometer registered 1575 miles from Boulder, Col. The car has traveled over 2600 miles with the same air in the tires; we have been out no expense except for a bolt that we lost out of the fender, and a drop light was broken by being dropped on the floor. We averaged about 14 miles to the gallon of gasoline. Oil expense about 5.80. Our total expense—hotel, meals, gasoline, oil, incidentals, etc. was $98.55 from Boulder, Col. to Los Angeles, Cal., for four of us, which was less than the railroad fare alone for three. The car looks and seems as good as new.

"The roads were hilly, mountainous, sandy, etc. No mud, but cut up in ruts and chuck holes, many places very choppy. We all enjoyed the trip much more than if we had come by train. We are comfortably located in a very nice part of Los Angeles in the Potter Apartments, on Alvarado street, near Pico street. There is a carline on Pico going to the business section. We are about two miles from the downtown district. Joel has entered high school and enjoys the school. The course here is about the same as Jacksonville, but differently arranged. We have had three rainy days since we arrived. Today is about like a summer day; quite warm in the middle of the day. One or two mornings last week there was a very light frost, not enough to affect vegetation. Flowers are in bloom—crysanthemums, geraniums, roses, etc."

Sincerely yours,
E. L. Crouch and family.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver ailments with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that lousy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Mrs. Lambert laid down the evening paper, looked across the library table at her husband and remarked:

"Never mind," replied the brute, "that's certainly no fault of yours."

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

GOSSIP THAT FOREIGNERS WERE BUYING FUTURES LIFTS WHEAT
SPECULATIVE SENTIMENT APPEARS TO UNDERGO CHANGE FOR BETTER

Estimates of a Big Increase in the Winter Crop Acreage Influences Market—Corn Scores Again.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Wheat narrowed in value today, influenced somewhat by reports that the acreage needed for the winter crop showed a decrease of 25 per cent as compared with a year ago. The market closed steady, 4c net higher at 10 1/4 and Dec. and 10 3/4 at 3c. Corn scored a gain of 1/4 to 3/8c and oats of 1/2c. In provisions the outcome varied from unchanged figures to a rise of 5/16c.

In addition to estimates of a big decrease in the winter crop acreage, gossip that foreigners were buying futures here tended to strengthen the wheat market. There were also advices that millers at Minneapolis were purchasing freely and that flour was in demand for Baltic ports.

Considerable profit-taking made the wheat market react to a moderate extent before the close.

Corn prices bulged despite heavy sales to realize profits.

Oats displayed independent strength.

Commission house demand improved and some investment call was evident.

Provisions averaged higher, despite weakness in hog market. Reason ascribed were the corn advance and the fact that provision prices at Liverpool were sharply higher.

THRILLING EXPERIENCES BEFORE CIVIL WAR TIMES

Looking back to the days before the war it seems almost like a dream that the events which then transpired could have been possible. Dr. A. B. Morey taught school in Mississippi on the plantation owned by one man owning a large number of slaves but the young teacher was there to prepare a number of young white men for college and he became much attached to his pupils and they to him. A colored man was placed under Dr. Morey as his especial body servant ostensibly, but in reality he was a spy sent to listen and report anything the young man from the north might say regarding the peculiar institution but the young bondman was not a sneak or a spy and so warned the teacher to be careful and he was.

When he came to leave the southern gentlemen paid his salary as agreed and then asked him his views regarding slavery. He replied that he had not interfered in their affairs and opinions and saw no reason why they should look into his, but they said, rather insisting, that they wanted to know.

As the conversation proceeded it began to get rather pointed. Already several men had been lynched simply for entertaining obnoxious anti-slavery views and the young teacher's pupils knew too well what an expression from him might mean so one of them who was standing by told him to follow him. He followed him at once and the young northerner and his escort rode rapidly for ten miles when safety seemed assured and he made all haste to the railroad station and started for the north as rapidly as possible.

A man named Peter Smiley was in those regions and from the north. Once he wrote a letter to his home friends and left it on his table forgetting to seal it. It was taken to the post office and the postmaster took the liberty of reading it. In the letter the writer said:

"There are some things regarding slavery that are very repugnant to me."

The postmaster opened it and standing on a platform or portico of the office shouted in loud tones: "A letter unsealed has been deposited in the office; I take the liberty to read it."

At once a howl was raised when a friend hastened to the room of Mr. Smiley and bade him ask no questions but leave everything and flee for his life. He did so and barely escaped the hangman's rope and the young Mr. Morey knew who gave Mr. Smiley his information no one else in that vicinity knew it.

The late J. W. Lathrop, so long a leading merchant of this city, was once in St. Louis and visited the slave market. They had for sale while he was there an elderly couple, man and wife, a young man and beautiful young woman with hardly a trace of African blood in her appearance. First the older woman was put up and sold to the crowd; "Please make way for the boy to get here," meaning the old man, for all male slaves of any age were called boys. The old man stood up and was sold to go to a different master from the one who had bought his wife and both went away sobbing. The young man was put up but was indifferent regarding his fate as one master was about as good for him as another.

Then the young woman was put up and the auctioneer said: "I have reserved the choicest wine till the last but if you want it you will have to pay for it," and they did for bidding was spirited and she was sold to a wealthy man and went away downcast and sad hearted.

FIRE ALARM.

The fire department received an alarm from the billiard room of Otto Schumm at the northeast corner of the square about 10 o'clock Friday morning. The department made a quick response but found that the cause of the alarm was heavy smoke coming from a chimney in the Elliott State bank. The call created considerable excitement for several minutes.

TRY "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS IF SICK OR BILIOUS

Tonight! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box now. Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and colds—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the excess, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.—Adv.

TWELVE CARS PILED UP IN WABASH FREIGHT WRECK

Broken Journal Causes Rerailment Near Lorton Crossing—Coal May Be Sold to Farmers.

A broken journal of a car caused the piling up of twelve cars of an extra west bound freight train on the Wabash near the Lorton crossing east of the city at 8:30 o'clock Thursday evening. Wrecking trains were sent from Springfield and Decatur and the crews worked until 9 o'clock Friday morning before the track was cleared for traffic.

During this time all the trains were detoured over the Alton to Murrayville and to Springfield by the air line. The first train to detour was the 9:30 passenger Thursday evening. The east bound flyer and the west bound passenger due here at 7:10 also detoured, the first train thru being the local passenger due here at 10:20 a. m. Friday morning. This train was about an hour late on account of the wreck.

The wrecked train was an extra and carried 28 loaded cars and 28 empties. Conductor Rainey was in charge with J. A. Sauner as engineer. The car which caused the wreck was the fourth one from the engine and was loaded with tile. The other wrecked cars were loaded with coal. About five hundred ties were torn up and twenty-five or thirty rails were ruined. One of the coal cars landed in a corn field on the south side of the track and the vicinity of the wreck resembled a coal mine.

The wrecking crews did splendid work in clearing the debris. It was a big job but the crews worked without sleep until Friday afternoon when they were relieved by other men. The Decatur wrecking train was in charge of Conductor G. H. Winch with Engineer Clarkson and Clarence Young as foreman. The Springfield train was in charge of Conductor E. T. Robb with Engineer C. I. Barrett and foreman James Newton.

In speaking of the wreck Friday afternoon Conductor Winch said that it was the worst one he had seen on the Wabash in his fifteen years of service. It is not definitely known but it is probable that most of the coal will be sold to farmers in the vicinity of the wreck.

Greatest of All Human Blessings

The most wonderful thing in the world is love expressed in the helpless infant. And among these aids and comforts for expectant mothers is the well known "Mother's Friend."

This is an external application to enable the abdominal muscles to become more pliant, to expand naturally without undue pain from the strain upon cords and ligaments.

In almost every settled community are women who have enjoyed the blessing of this famous remedial and helpful embrocation. Their daughters have grown up to lead a life of splendid assistance. Applied as directed upon these muscles involved it soothes the fine network of nerves with which all the muscles are supplied. Thus a great share of the pangs so much dreaded may be avoided and the period of expectancy passed through in ease and comfort.

Anything that adds so much comfort must be counted as a blessing indeed. In a little book sent by mail much useful information is given to inexperienced mothers. It tells how to use "Mother's Friend" and how to avoid caking breasts. It has been prepared in our laboratory for over four years and is known favorably to most druggists everywhere. Get a bottle to-day and write for book to Bradfield Regulator Co., 509 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to ask for and see that you get "Mother's Friend."

Do not accept a substitute. What is said herein of "Mother's Friend" is but a repetition of the thoughts expressed by thousands of happy mothers who have successfully used this splendid external application.

ILLINOIS STATE TITLE CLEARER

MONMOUTH'S HOPES FOR CHAMPIONSHIP GO GLIMMERING.

William and Vashti Has Edge on Monmouth Through Defeat of Northwestern 27 to 0—Coach Martin of Peoria Praises Frisbie and Stewart—Coach Muhl's Selection.

Illinois college's right to claim the championship football title for the state loomed up stronger than ever after the Thanksgiving game between Northwestern and William and Vashti, over Monmouth who has been clinging to the thought that her eleven deserved the honors. Monmouth would not accept to the fact that her scoreless game against Lombard, meant that Illinois had the edge on her, because Illinois defeated Lombard 14 to 7. The Monmouth paper in speaking of Monmouth's right says: "Monmouth defeated Northwestern 21 to 0 and could there be anything more decisive than this result. Hardly." Let's see about this, by way of comparing score: Monmouth defeats Northwestern 21 to 0. William and Vashti, a member of the "Little Sixteen" conference beats Northwestern 27 to 0 turkey day. William and Vashti was beaten by both Millikin and Wesleyan. Illinois college defeats Millikin 13 to 0 and Wesleyan 21 to 3. Now if Illinois cleans up decisively upon two teams that defeated William and Vashti and William and Vashti defeats Northwestern by a bigger score than Monmouth, then where is Monmouth's claim coming via the William and Vashti route? It certainly can't come via Lombard route. The Monmouth paper also states that "Illinois college barely beat Vashti, the score being 17 to 13." This statement is a joke for Illinois never played William and Vashti this year.

Coach Martin's Choice.

Coach Martin of Bradley Polytechnic has picked three Illinois men on his all state conference team. His team follows:

Left guard—Catlin, Millikin.
(Capt.)

Center—Vanneman, Normal.
Right guard—Price, Bradley.
Right tackle—Frisbie, Illinois.
Right end—Elliott, Wesleyan.
Quarterback—Stewart, Illinois.
Left half back—Jackson, Lombard.

Right half back—Cox, Normal.
Full back—Westfall, William and Vashti.

Praise for Frisbie and Stewart.

In commenting on Illinois men Coach Martin says: "Frisbie is a star end but a better combination will be presented with him at tackle. Bergin of William and Vashti and Frisbie of Illinois make the tackle position stronger than they were before. Both are big men and past masters in the art of playing tackle in every phase. Frisbie is considered by many to be the equal of many of the tackles turned out in the "Big Nine." In picking Stewart for quarter I have picked a man who has starred on Illinois' football team for several years. He has a world of head work and experience to fall back on. Dunham of Wesleyan is a grand open field runner but not the passer and safety man that Stewart is."

Coach Muhl's Selection.

Coach Muhl of Wesleyan university in his all conference team picks Mitchell, Frisbie and Stewart from Illinois, and in his second team, Pierce, and Wilson of Illinois. His choice follows:

First Team.
Left end—Frisbie, Illinois college.

Center—Eagleton, Wesleyan.
Right guard—etzer, Bradley.
Right tackle—Phillips, Lombard.
Right end—Elliott, Wesleyan.

Quarterback—Stewart, Illinois college.
Left halfback—McFarland, Wesleyan.

Right halfback—Foedisch, Lombard.
Fullback—Bentley, Wesleyan.

Second Team.
Left end—Jones, Normal.

Center—Herdriek, Bradley.
Right guard—Shirley, Wesleyan.

Right tackle—Catlin, Millikin.
Right end—Pierce, Illinois college.

Quarterback—Applegate, Wesleyan.
Left halfback—Dunham, Wesleyan.

Fullback—Westfall, Vashti.

The Lombard paper in commenting on Coach Harmon's selection of all state team, which included but one of Lombard's players, said that Coach Harmon was not a competent judge. Here comes Coach Wann of Millikin, Coach Muhl of Wesleyan and Coach Martin of Bradley Polytechnic and each coach gives Lombard but one man on the all-conference team.

OLD STAKE IS WRECKED.

The old smoke stack at Jacksonville state hospital, which has stood unused since its replacement by a new and larger one a few years ago, has been wrecked to clear ground for the new hospital kitchen. The bricks from the stack have been cleaned up for use and the iron broken up and sold as junk. The new kitchen will not be dependent on stoves or furnaces as steam from the boiler rooms will do the cooking.

JACKSONVILLE POULTRY RANKS HIGH AT CASS COUNTY SHOW

Many Morgan County Birds Will Go to Greene County Next Week—Weber Orpingtons Take Four Cups and Badges—The Morgan County Show.

That Morgan county poultry ranks with the best and will continue to make its way to the top is indicated by the records of the Cass county show at Beardstown, where one pen of Orpingtons belonging to J. C. and A. P. Weber of this city took four cups and a badge in addition to individual prizes. At the same show Mrs. Allen T. Franz took the prize for the best pen of bantams, winning prizes also for best bantams of the Seabright, Black Cochins and White Cochins classes. The Weber birds won the four silver trophy cups as follows:

Best Pen English Class.
Best Pen Orpingtons.
Best cockerels, cock, hen and pullet in show.

Best pen birds in show.
D. T. Heimlich was judge of the Cass county show and reports from Beardstown indicate that his work was highly satisfactory. Mr. Heimlich has been secured for the Morgan county show which will be held the week of Dec. 6 in the Gause building on South Sandy street. The exchange arrangement made last year between Greene and Morgan county growers will be carried out in this season's shows. It is expected that one hundred birds from local growers will be sent to the Green county exhibits next week and a like number sent here for the show in Jacksonville.

An entirely new line of cups has been offered for the show here this year. They have been received by officers of the county association and will be on exhibition today in the dry goods store window of Carl S. Hillerby.

A twenty-one pound turkey won by Mrs. J. C. Weber in a drawing contest at Beardstown will be served at a special dinner for Cass county officials and Beardstown fanciers who expect to attend the Jacksonville show in December.

An exciting game of basketball was played at Chapin Friday evening when the high school of that place met and defeated the Astoria high school aggregation. The score was 14 to 10 in favor of Chapin and was full of action throughout. The game was witnessed by a small crowd but all were enthusiastic followers of the game and practically all were pulling hard for the Chapin boys to win. The game was marred by some differences of opinion between the referee and umpire and players and some consequent "rag chewing" but was a good clean contest for the most part. The line-up was as follows:

Astoria: Bader and Severns, forwards; Litchfield, center; Swearingin and Bucy, guards; Lee, substitute.
Chapin: Williams and Bayliss, forwards; Tholen, center; Perbix and Anderson, guards; Onken, substitute.
Officials — Timekeepers, Garner and Lee; scorer, Onken; referee, Allen; Umpire, Perry.

MANY WORDS OF PRAISE AND THANKS SPOKEN AT THURSDAY SERVICES

Union Meeting at Christian Church Addressed by Rev. P. W. Stephens—Thanksgiving Observances at Other City Churches.

Beginning with the sunrise prayer meeting service Thursday morning at 7 o'clock and continuing at various hours throughout the day, the services for those who wished to express their thanks in a devotional manner were held in the various churches of Jacksonville with good success. The sunrise prayer service under the auspices of the Young People's federation was well attended, and this first service at Grace M. E. church was designed as an annual event, to be repeated from year to year as suggested two years ago by Dr. Milton S. Rees, the union evangelist. Paul Morrison, the federation president, was in the chair and a number of young peoples' society members of the city took part. "What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits?" was the subject of Miss Amy Stockton of California, who from the very first held the undivided interest of her hearers. Harry Beckman sang a solo at the conclusion of the address and refreshments were served the young people by the Epworth League of Grace M. E. church.

At 11 o'clock special Thanksgiving services were held at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, and at ten the day was observed at Trinity Episcopal church. The Rev. P. W. Stephens, pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke on the theme, "A Perfect Thanksgiving, its Characteristics and Consequences," at the union church service Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Central Christian church. Rev. M. L. Pontius, pastor of the church, presided, and Rev. G. W. Plagge, Rev. F. B. Madden, Dr. F. A. McCarty, Dr. A. B. Morey and Rev. W. E. Spooner were the ministers who took part. From the appeal by Dr. Morey there resulted a collection of $19.05, all of which was turned over to the Associated Charities.

A noteworthy feature of Mr. Stephens' address was the high tribute paid the United States and its mission among the nations. In this regard Mr. Stephens told of the first Thanksgiving service he ever attended on coming to this country from England, a number of years ago. At a large meeting in Chicago peoples from many countries were present and in succession were sung the national hymns of England, Russia, France, and Germany by representatives of the respective nations. At the last all those born in the United States joined in "America" and then the entire company united in the song, "Blest be the tie that binds." Mr. Stephens took his text from Revelations 6-12, making three principal points; first, Thanksgiving to be perfect must be international in scope; second, it must be inspired by God's goodness; third, it needs service for its perfect expression.

Thursday evening Miss Stockton and Rev. Mr. Stephens went to Litterberry where union Thanksgiving services were held in the Christian church, the Rev. C. G. Cantrell presiding at a meeting which in consideration of the rainy night was well attended. Friday evening Miss Stockton appeared at the Baptist mission on Ashland avenue and in her earnest yet inimitable manner spoke on the subject, "Seeking the Christ," quoting from scripture the injunction "Seek ye the Lord while He may yet be found." The mission building was packed.

By no means behind handed were the colored people of the city at the union Thanksgiving service Thursday forenoon at 11 o'clock at North A. M. E. church in charge of Rev. E. L. Scruggs, pastor of Mt. Emory church. "The true Conception of Thanksgiving," was the speaker's subject and his theme was developed clearly and forcefully. Rev. Mr. Scruggs took his text from Psalms 117. Ministers assisting were Rev. H. H. DeWitt, of the Second Baptist church, Rev. J. M. McCracken, Bethel A. M. E. church; Rev. M. L. Mackey, McCabe M. E. church, and Rev. Mr. Hancock of the Second Christian church.
